

The examination may be taken in one of five fields of specialization within Economics:

1. Microeconomics
2. Macroeconomics
3. Political Economy
4. Statistics and Econometrics
5. Economic History

In their application, applicants are required to choose one of these fields. It is noted that examination questions are written in English for Microeconomics, Macroeconomics and Statistics and Econometrics. Questions in Political Economy and Economic History are in Japanese. Regardless of their choice of field of specialization, applicants may use either Japanese or English for their examination responses.